Piano 4

The floor plan for Piano 4 features a large, dark grey central hall. To the right, a curved corridor is highlighted with a red line. Below the hall, there is a large rectangular area with a grid pattern, possibly a parking lot or a large open space. To the left of this area, there is a blue-shaded section, likely a service area or entrance. The plan also shows various rooms, including a large room with a grid pattern at the bottom, and several smaller rooms and corridors throughout the layout.

This architectural floor plan, labeled 'Piano 5', depicts a complex layout. A large, dark grey, irregularly shaped central area dominates the upper half. To its right, a curved corridor or walkway is highlighted with a red line. Below this, a series of small, rectangular rooms are arranged in a row, some of which are shaded in light blue. At the bottom of the plan, there are two large, rectangular areas with a hatched pattern, likely representing terraces or large open spaces. The overall design suggests a modern, possibly institutional or commercial, building.
